BOOK of REMEMBRANCE

YOM KIPPUR 5782

SEPTEMBER 16, 2021

BEYOND LIFE

When we are commanded not to mourn excessively, Judaism teaches that our loved ones shall never be forgotten by those who come after them. The Sabbath closest to the anniversary of the death of a loved one is spent in the synagogue in respect for our beloved dead. The Memorial Services during the Festivals of Sukkot, Passover and Shavout are occasions to memorialize our loved ones by attendance. This Service during Yom Kippur marks another great occasion when the memory of our departed is hallowed in the precincts of the most sacred place in Judaism, the Synagogue.

The purpose of our memorial prayers is not only to fulfill an obligation to the dead; it is also to form a bridge between our beloved and the land of the living. Death cannot be and is not the end of life. Humans transcend death in many altogether naturalistic fashions. They may be immortal biologically, through their children; in thought, through the survival of their memory; in influence, by virtue of the continuance of their personality as a force among those who come after them; and, ideally, through their identification with the timeless things of the spirit.

When Judaism speaks of immortality, it has in mind all of these. But its primary meaning is that human beings contain something independent of the flesh and surviving it, our consciousness and moral capacity, our essential personality, our soul.

CONGREGATION CHILDREN OF ISRAEL
AUGUSTA, GEORGIA

"So long as we live, they too shall live, for they are now a part of us, as we remember them."

This Congregation Children of Israel Yizkor Book of Remembrance is dedicated to and is but a token of the love we have for those upon whose lives our own days are built. They shall live on in the hearts of those who cherish their memory. May the beauty of their lives abide among us as a living benediction. AMEN.

אָמֵן.

O God full of compassion, Eternal Spirit of the universe, grant perfect rest under the wings of Your Presence to our loved ones who have entered eternity. God of Mercy, let them find refuge forever in the shadow of Your wings, and let their souls be bound up in the bond of eternal life. The Eternal God is their inheritance. May they rest in peace, and let us say: Amen.

"In the chill of winter, the warmth of summer, the joys of spring, and the touch of fall, we remember them."
